

As the first francophone university established in North America, Université Laval is one of the largest in Canada. Strongly committed to its community, the university offers a first-rate academic and research environment in Quebec City, a UNESCO World Heritage City.

Support staff

SENIOR TECHNICIAN

CENTRE FOR OPTICS, PHOTONICS AND LASERS

In the process of establishing new facilities for the fabrication of optical fibres in silica and exotic glasses, the Centre has an opening for a senior technician specialized in optical fibre preform drawing processes who will be responsible for phasing in, operating and servicing the equipment.

Competition deadline : August 23, 2010

Information : ulaval.ca, under « Emplois disponibles »

As an employer, Université Laval values diversity among its staff and invites applications from all qualified individuals, in particular women, members of a visible and ethnic minority, First Nation members and the handicapped. Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority.